

LF keeps his foot on the gas; pulls in 13 wins and extends lead in the process

MM and MS stay locked in as they secure 12 wins of their own

Effective date: 2022-12-21

Week 15 has come to a close and it was a statement week for LF who had some answers for the questions posed in last weeks write-up about whether or not he could perform down the stretch...Perform he did, as he racked up 13 wins to lead all pickers on the week and give himself a little more cushion heading into the final 3. A great bit of picking, LF! MM and MS continue to scratch and claw as they were in it to win it this week, logging 12 wins a piece to keep things heading into the right direction. MM has been hammering away week to week and finds himself all alone in the 2nd spot with a window of opportunity to make some noise. If there was any time to come out swinging, it would be in week 16 so keep an eye on him as he looks to capitalize on some knockout punches. We believe in the seasoned vet! To round out weekly honors, DP and KS finished with 11 winners which isn't all that they had hoped for this holiday season but will take nonetheless. Tip of the cap to you gents! Now with Christmas right around the bend and a handful of members searching to make up some ground to closeout 2022, these final weeks should be a handful. The anticipation has me feeling like a 6 year old on Christmas Eve!

Loner news didn't bring much joy to any of the pickers with red on their pick sheet so let's spare the lot of them from reading the results they already had to endure. For the 4 of you that laid it all out on the line this week we commend your efforts! You know who you are!

We look onward to a week filled with family, football and holiday cheer. Wishing you all the best and a very Merry Christmas to you and yours.

Your President,

LF
