

DP and LF Lead the Way in Week 3 with 10 Winners

BS Secures 9 of His Own and Moves up the Board

Effective date: 2024-09-24

Week 3 gave membership all they could handle, which seems to be the trend so far in this young NFL season. With upsets continuing to snag headlines, membership has felt the turbulence and been advised to take their seats and buckle their seatbelts. Luckily for LF and DP, they are frequent fliers and strapped in early to secure 10 wins a piece to lead all passengers. First dibs on bischoff cookies and a beverage of choice never felt so good! Well done LF and DP! BS is also no novice to flying and was able to avoid the worst and log 9 wins to bring himself back up into a share of the lead. KB, CM, SS and KS log 8 wins with a so-so flight experience and the rest of membership was just told that their baggage wasn't on the airline. No matter the trip you had this week, next week is a new travel destination and tickets are on sale now! Will anyone be flying first class?

We had 3 loner picks on display all by different members but only one walked away victorious. MS was first on the board with his NE pick, but unfortunately for him NE never showed up and got handed the L. KB checked in next and took ARZ over DET but after a hard fought battle, he too took an L. That leaves loner leader MM who took DEN over TB to secure his second loner win in two weeks! Another great loner pick by MM, membership salutes your guts! The only question is...will he go for 3 straight?

Storylines are beginning to take shape both in the NFL and the PFVCC. With a ton of football to be played, we move on to week 4! Enjoy the ride!

Your President,

LF
