LF and MM Dazzle in Week 9; Forces SS to make Duplicates of the Penthouse Keys

Membership Refuses to Lay Down; MIP Remains Folklore to This Point

Effective date: 2024-11-05

Week 9 was moving week around the PFVCC and it brought a couple of new tenants with interest in the exclusive Penthouse real estate. Through nine weeks the Penthouse has been home to a few members, but no one except SS has lived there for longer than a week or two. LF and MM, who have lived in the area just slightly down the hill, have now earned themselves shared stake in the luxurious space after posting 14-1 weeks and propelling themselves up the leaderboard where they sit elbow to elbow with SS. SS' 10-5 performance wasn't what he had planned but he is a respectful host and has passed on a set of keys to each of the new tenants and let them explore the greatness within. MM and LF did hear him mutter "enjoy your stay" as if to imply they won't be around long, and then off he went back to his study. MM and LF didn't think much of it as they too don't like sharing the space, but for now they will enjoy and let their picking speak for itself. KS and CM were also looking to move to a nicer area as their 13 wins afforded them the opportunity to do so. BS and PM followed the U-hauls with 12 wins to round out the movers in week 9. The race has gotten tighter and with it the housing market has shot up in value. If you want a nicer spot, you better see to it that your victories are accounted for.

DJ, BS and MS looked to capitalize on loners but only one would be so lucky. DJ was the man showered in glory as CAR knocked off NO. A well deserved win by DJ and a better luck next time for BS and MS!

We are officially entering the back half of the season and we have still yet to hear from the MIP. IF the MIP comes, it might have to be referred to as the "LIP" but for now to week 10 we go.

Your President,

LF
